

The PSOE maintains that Llamas "deceived" the British to get their vote and become mayor

Manuel Pedrosa cannot believe the difficult situation that his neighbours are going through
Translated from El Dia de Cordoba, R. Alba / Cantoria | Updated 10.07.2008 - 12:37

The municipal spokesman of the PSOE on Cantoria Council, Manuel Pedrosa, has told 'El Almeria' about his wish that "any resident of Cantoria, whatever their nationality, gets away from the damage caused by the deception of the mayor, Pedro Llamas, and the housing issue is resolved as soon as possible.

According to Pedrosa, "the 'El Fas thing' goes back a long way. Before the last municipal elections, I met with British citizens with the proposal to implement the Plan General de Ordenacion Urbana that was pending approval." However, the promises of the current mayor prevented Manuel Pedrosa from winning, "he told them that if elected he would urbanise the land. The British citizens, who live with the anguish of a house that may be demolished, voted for him."

The socialist spokesman could not explain why the mayor put the finalised PGOU in a drawer and made a new one. For Pedrosa the only solution to illegal dwellings "is to implement the PGOU, and obtain a commitment from developers and contractors to urbanise, I see no other way possible."

Apparently, the mayor has not yet informed the opposition about the new PGOU: "I, who am the spokesman for the opposition, do not know what is being done with the new plan."

According Pedrosa, "the mayor has created uncertainty among citizens. It's not just 'Fas', there are more irregular housing developments such as La Hoya, Los Cortijos Altos, The Arrellana, Tomaca, El Arroyo Aceituno, El Arroyo Albanchez. I think that the mayor stands accused of offences against regional planning."
"

Original Article in Spanish